Text of the Testimony: Last Thursday at 10 PM, the security brothers came to me and said to me, "Why didn't you vacate the house?" I told them, "Where is the evacuation order?" They told me, "There is no need for an evacuation order." I told them, "I will not leave without a judicial order." They told me, "You will leave by force." I told him, "I am not from here. I am from Douma, Damascus." They said to me, "This does not concern us." I said to him, "Where will I go when my mother is 75 years old and lives with me?" They said to me, "We will throw you and your mother from the window." I told him, "I am a Muslim." They said to me, "You are a dog." I told him, "I will not leave without a judicial order." They told me, "The owner of the house is in Lebanon." I told him, "The house belongs to my mother, she is here, and there is a rent contract between her and me."
